I'm writing on behalf of the providers of the Las Vegas Neurology Center to consider adding Ubrelvy to the preferred formulary status. Since Ubrelvy's approval for the acute treatment of migraine, this has been a go-to abortive treatment for the clinic. There have been many limiting options for migraine in the past 25 years. Triptans only serve to a limited population and anytime we can avoid the use of narcotics and/or opioids, we do. The providers prefer Ubrelvy because it works on the pathophysiology of migraine and offers multiple doses for diverse patient types. The medicine has also served in favor for patients that have had a history of cardiovascular or stroke issues. Ubrelvy has provided not only a different approach to treating migraine but also a safe and effective way of doing so. I hope these comments assist in your decision making.

Sincerely,

Dr. Paul Janda, Do,JD,ESQ,FAAN
